The Prince Chancellor Defends the Diplomacy Toward Spain.

Relations with the Vatican Broken Off.

Is the Empire Drifting Toward

BERLIN, Dec. 4, 1874. In the Reichstag to-day a letter from the Chancellor of the Empire, Prince Bismarck, was read. NO DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH THE VATICAN.

The Prince Chancellor's letter announced, in the name of the Emperor and in accordance with the decision of the Federal Council, that the sum for maintenance of a German Legation to the Vatican is struck out of the budget. TECHNICAL OBJECTIONS BY THE MEMBERS FROM ALSACE AND LORRAINE. The deputies from Alsace and Lorraine sent a written notice to the President of the Chamber that, in view of the condition of their country, they cannot serve in the Committee on the Alsace Lorraine Budget and Loan bill.

Both communications were referred to com-

THE FOREIGN POLICY VIOLENTLY ASSAILED. In the course of a debate on the estimates for the committees of the Federal Council Herr Joerg, one of the Bavarian deputies and a memher of the clerical party, made a venement and bitter attack on Bismarck's fereign policy. He remarked that in consequence of Russia holding doof the Chancellor had made a Aasco of his attempt at intervention in Spain. He wished to know whether the Committee of the Federal Council, which, according to the constitution, existed for the consideration of questions of foreign BISMARCK'S REPLY.

Prince Bismarck replied that all important diplomatic despatches were communicated to the Committee, which met whenever summoned by the President. Nothing was concealed from any of the federated governments. He emphatically repelled the insinuation that the federal representatives did not adequately protect the rights of the various States. There had never been any idea of interventog in the affairs of Spain. When apprised of the murder of Schmidt he said to himself, "Such a thing would not have happened to a British, French or American citi-zen." He remembered the humiliations formerly imposed on Germans, and considered the time had arrived to avenge such wrongs. The only way of helping Spain was to recognize those elements in the country which were disposed to restore public order. Russia was less effected by Spanish concerns than Germany. He respected the decision of Russia as a Power with which Germany had lived in intimate friendship for a century. "Ii," continued Blamarck, "your darts are directed against that friendship they will miss their aim. I can quietly hear the charge of Jasco."

KULLMANN'S CENTRE FOR ASSASSINATION.

Referring to an assertion of Herr Joerg that Kulimann was a madman, Bismarck replied:-- "He thing in common with Kullmann; that I compre . But he clings tightly to your coattails. I asked Kulimann why he wished to kill me. He answered, 'On account of the church laws, and because you insulted my party.' I asked, 'Which party?' and he replied, 'The Centre, or ultramon-tanes.' [Great tumult in the Chambers.] You may thrust Kullmann away; he, nevertheless, belongs to you."

TUMULT. Here the House burst into cheers, which were loud and long continued. As the applause subsided cries of "Piul! prui!" were heard from the ultramontane benches. The President declared these exclamations un-

Herr Windhorst, an ultramontane, rose and said that in his speech from the balcony at Kissengen, after Kullmann's attempt, Bismarck gave the signal for attack on the Centre. It was wrong to notice one party against another. They were Prince Bismarck repelled the accusation. He pointed to the continued incitement in the ultramontane press, and to the events which led to the attempt of Kullmann on his life, and added:"Were I to believe half of what the ultramontane papers say against me who knows what I should

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Dec. 4, 1874. Hiram Smith, found guilty of complicity with Charles Sutherland in the murder of Charles Wen-ham, in the town of Champion, Jefferson county, paid the penalty of his crime in this place to-day. The peculiar incidents connected with the murder case of Smith a great amount of sympathy had been excited. For fity years no execution had taken place in Jederson county, a fact which has had a tendency to interest members of the Bench of the condemned man, and powerful efforts were made to have his sentence commuted to imprison-ment for life, but in vain, as Governor Dix refused

Smith received the news calmly, bowing his head and saying ne was ready to die.

was committed on the 6th of January, 1873, about twelve miles from this place. The body of the murdered man was found on January 9, under the ice in Deer Lick Creek. A letter found pointed to Charles Sutherland, or Copenhagen, as the murderer. Sutherland was arrested on January 11, and poisoned himself with strychnine an hour afterwards.

Smith was arrested October 20, 1873; tried in June last, and sentenced to be hanged on July 24. He was convicted on circumstantial evidence, and his admissions to the detectives, who tempted him by proposing certain crimes to alm and upon his yielding to their snggestions leigned to doubt his courage and so induced him to boast of his connection with the Wenham murder. Smith was arrested in October, 1873.

was put over until the May term, and on the 20th of that month it was commenced before Judge Morgan's court. District Attorney Williams was assisted by Mr. D. O'Brien in behalf of the people, and the prisoner was defended by able counsel. To the surprise of the public generally, owing to the nature of the evidence, after five hours of deliberation on the 5th of June the jury returned a verdict dinding Smith guilty of being one of the principals in Wenham's murder. On the morning or the following day Judge Morgan pronounced sentence of death upon the condemned man, fixing the date of the execution for Friday, July 24. He was reprited by the Governor to October 23 and again to December 4.

At half-past twelve o'clock P. M. Sherin Babbitt went to his cell, and he was led to the scandol in a yard in the rear of the jail. The rope was adjusted and the death warrant read. A prayer was delivered by Rev. H. Hersey, and a passage of Scripture read by Rev. C. M. Livingston. Remarks were made by Rev. J. W. Putnam. He protested his innocence to the last in a long speech, calling upon God to witness the truth, and died without finciling. He shook hands with the Sherid, his counsel and the minister. The black cap was adjusted and the drop was cut at 12:57 P. M. Death was easy, the body making but two slightstruggles. He held a Hole in his nand. At eleven minutes past one he was pronounced dead and the body was cut down at twenty-seven minutes past one, this remains are to be faken to Cape vincent. But lew people witnessed the scene. A large crowd was in the streets about the jail, which were guarded by the military.
